

PRIVACY POLICY

What are Cookies and how do we collect information?

At Royal Djurgården we care about our visitors' privacy. Therefore, we want to let you know how we use cookies on our webpage.

A cookie is a small text file downloaded onto your computer to store information about your activity on our webpage. We follow the Swedish law, which says that as a visitor on our webpage that uses cookies, you are entitled to information about how we use and collect this information.

Our website uses Google Analytics, which stores your IP address, geographical location, browser, screen size and other information about your device.

Google Analytics stores information about how you as a visitor navigate our webpage. This helps us to see what pages you visit, how long you are on the site, how you got here and how many pages you visit.

We do not share this information with any third party.

To be able to use Google Analytics in accordance with GDPR standards, we give you the option to actively consent to the cookies we use.

You can also choose to opt out and limit the access for cookies on your computer.
